Once they reached their position the drive-by parade began led by the Village of Waskatenau Fire Department with the Mayor congratulating the grads through the loud speaker of the truck and spraying water from the front of the fire truck. The RCMP were next in line followed by parents, school community and friends. The innovative ceremony was held to abide by the rules of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Legion Hall closed but members still active

Although the Royal Canadian Legion Redwater Branch #51 will remain closed to public events and activities until Stage 3 of the provincial government’s economy re-opening, support to veterans continues and the building’s foundation repair is being prepared. "We’re basically shut down," said treasurer Kevin Ilsley. "The only thing we’re doing is taking membership applications."

"The building’s foundation repair is being prepared. That would provide work for a company during a slow time and keep the Legion from having to close the hall again at a later date. Planning for the $35,000 foundation project has been under way for about 18 months. A provincial grant was received for half the cost and some funds accessed from Dominion Command. As well, the Redwater Legion was holding Friday night supper as a fundraiser. Those suppers have not been held since mid-March because of the COVID-19 pandemic. Bingos, card games, raffles, conventions and rentals were also cancelled. The Legion executive meets regularly, with members scattered at separate tables to ensure physical distancing is maintained. Members made changes to bylaws to address their inability to hold monthly meetings and to keep the current executive in place as long as the provincial state of emergency exists. They also donated $500 to the local food bank and $500 to the Redwater Museum for storage shelves.

"We’re still working in the background if we get the opportunity," Ilsley said.

Larger class sizes, program reductions, higher bus fees expected

Sturgeon Public Schools (SPS) will increase class sizes for grades four to 12 and increase transportation fees in the 2020-2021 school year. School resource fees will not be changed, but there will be program reductions and fewer central supports. Early Childhood Programs will also experience significant cuts.

This information was emailed to SPS families May 29 in the following letter: "At the discretion of the Board, the 2020-2021 Budget includes a multi-year strategy that aims to mitigate the significant impact Sturgeon Public Schools will experience under the New Funding Model. When students return in September, class sizes in Grades 4-12 will see a slight increase, there will be program reductions and less central supports for schools. Our staff remains committed to our shared purpose – Student Achievement and committed to service to our communities. "We share the Government’s commitment to mitigate the impact the COVID-19 pandemic has had on our communities and families, thus the Complementary Learning Resource Fee will be waived for the 2020-2021 school year for all students," it states.

The budget picture stated that in October 2019, in the mid-year budget released by the provincial government, Sturgeon Public Schools lost the Class Size Initiative Grant, Transportation Fee Grant and School Fee Grant. They were replaced by a one-time transition grant of $1.7 million which left SPS with a $3 million shortfall for 2019-2020. SPS will manage its 2020-2021 budget by setting a long-term financial sustainability plan, putting resources directly into classrooms, reducing staff and programs across the system and increasing Transportation Fees.

Local Air Quality News Update

Clean Air Day is June 3
We encourage all Redwater residents to support Clean Air Day by taking at least one action that helps air quality on June 3...and making it a habit throughout the year. Examples include walking or bike riding instead of driving to a destination, not idling a vehicle while parked, turning down thermostats and air conditioners, and shutting off lights when not needed.

Portable Station Moving to Sturgeon County
Our portable air monitoring station, which has been located in Chipman since mid-June, 2019, will be moving to Sturgeon County this summer. A summary report on air monitoring data collected during the time the station was in Chipman will be made public once it is completed.

Report to the Community Available
Our 2019 Report to the Community is now available. The report provides 2019 highlights of our activities including a summary of key reports we issued during the year, annual monitoring results and a financial summary.

Network Audit Gives FAP High Marks
The results of a provincial audit conducted of our air monitoring network gives FAP high marks for performance. Once notified of the audit findings, we immediately took steps to rectify any deficiencies. Critical items were resolved the same day and non-critical items by the following day.
High school graduation is a little different for Redwater School’s class of 2020. Teacher Terra Beth Dowhaluk, who is the Grad advisor, said the school began celebrating this year’s 28 graduates by publishing their photos and names in The Review newspaper May 27.

All grads will receive a gift bag containing their grad cap and tassel, a certificate from the school recognizing their high school achievement, a personal card signed by all staff to individually recognize each student, plus video recordings. Valedictorian Abigail Fedoruk will address her class through a recorded video. Students will also receive a video of the slideshow featuring baby pictures and grad pictures of all graduates. This would normally be displayed at the school ceremony. Grads will receive a video of speeches from principal Paul Hamish, mayor Mel Smith, trustee Janine Pegan and guest speaker teacher Rebecca Redding. These speeches are usually presented at the school commencement ceremony or evening banquet.

The gift bags will be hand delivered to graduates on June 5 by school staff traveling in groups of three in separate vehicles. Dowhaluk said the parents of the grads may organize a larger social event in the future.

Grad pictures and names will be displayed on the Town of Redwater electronic sign during the first week of June. Sign use was generously donated by the town to recognize the graduates.

Redwater School usually holds a spring convocation ceremony and a banquet and dance for graduates.
Redwater Lions Club members planted 100 seedling trees on the Redwater Community Golf Course May 25.

“It is hoped that over the next few years the trees will continue to mature and grow so that they can be transplanted to other areas of the course to supplement some of the older trees,” said outgoing Lions president Dave McRae. “In the meantime they will hopefully beautify an area of the course adjacent to the Number 8 green.”

The tree planting was done to mark this year’s 100th anniversary of Lions Clubs in Canada. It is doubly significant because 2020 is also the Redwater Lions Club’s 70th anniversary.

“Over these many decades members of Lions clubs have donated their time, efforts and energies to make their communities, and their countries, better places,” said McRae. “Lions members are encouraged to help mark this 100 year milestone by planting trees with an overall goal to plant 100,000 trees in Canada.”

The Redwater Lions undertook planting 100 trees and approached the local golf course as a location for them. Because the trees were planted over six feet apart to allow for maintenance and equipment access, a large area of property was needed. Lions members worked with Lion’s District C-1, and with a private donation from a golf club member, the Lions Club purchased 100 seedlings.

“The Lions Club would like to thank the Redwater Community Golf Club for providing the space and encourage everyone to plant one special tree this year to help not only their environment but to beautify their community,” said McRae.

COVID-19 cases in 3-county region remain unchanged in last two weeks

Area COVID-19 statistics have not changed in the last two weeks. As of May 29 the Sturgeon County region still had 13 reported cases of COVID-19, with one active case and 12 recovered. Sturgeon County is the only one in The Review and The Fire Press circulation areas with any reported cases of COVID-19. Both the Thorhild and Smoky Lake county regions continue to have zero reported cases.

For reporting purposes, each county includes the urban communities within it. The above figures were taken from the Government of Alberta website May 29.

The Redwater Pioneer Club will remain closed to all activities for an unknown length of time. “Right now we’re not opening for anything,” said president Zopy Boe. “We can’t open yet.” The building was closed and announced closed when the provincial government ordered gatherings stopping to enforce COVID-19. Although some businesses are now re-opening, the Pioneer Club will remain closed.

Floor curling was suspended in March and is now into its usual shutdown for the summer. The club’s regular social events for seniors include coffee meetings, bingo and pancake breakfasts, none of which can be held under current Alberta Services rules.

No rentals are being booked, and the annual fall auction and fundraising Tea had to be cancelled. Fortunately, club members worked a costume in December 2019 and have funds to carry them through the reduced income while bills such as utilities need to be paid.

Thorhill council to consider three options for the increase of taxes

Thorhill County residents may have a $60 increase in taxes this year, or a $100 increase, or maybe more. Council took a first look at 2020 mill rates during its May 26 meeting, and after a lengthy discussion (well over an hour) about the two proposed tax rate alternatives, directed administration to prepare a third option.

Impacting this year’s municipal mill rates are an overall two percent ($18.2 million) decrease in total assessments within the county and the need to collect $79,100 to cover provincial policing costs, an expense the county did not previously have. The mill rate for policing costs will collect about $10 per $1,000 of assessment.

The Alberta School Foundation Fund (ASF) requisition increased, so the mill rates to collect it will increase. The Seniors Lodge requisition amount remained the same, but because the county’s assessment decreased, the mill rate to collect that requisition will increase slightly.

Administration proposed two options, with the first collecting $11 million in municipal taxes and the second $16.7 million. Last year the county collected $14.1 million in municipal taxes.

Option one proposed starting with the 2019 mill rates and adding the mill rate amount (0.0997) required to collect funds for policing costs. Under this option the average residential property would see a tax increase of 3.25 percent, then added the mill rate amount for policing costs. Under this option write offs.

The options will be considered at a council meeting this fall.
HA Kostash class of 2020 celebrations will be held in September, with drive-by parade held in May

Spring prom was cancelled for students graduating in the class of 2020 at H.A. Kostash School in Smoky Lake. They will have a banquet in September.

Posters of the 32 grads were placed on the boulevard along 50 Street (Hwy 855) in front of the school. On May 16, which would have been the date of the spring prom if it had not been cancelled because of the COVID-19 pandemic, the graduates were cheered as fire department members paraded them through town in their vehicles.

The banquet and dance were postponed until the last weekend in September. Convocation will be held in the fall as usual. The cap and gown ceremony will be Sept. 23, on the same night as the school’s annual awards ceremony.

Sturgeon council cuts their pay

Sturgeon County Council members will be taking a five percent salary reduction for June 1 through to December 31, 2020 as the majority approved the action during their regular Council meeting May 26.

The salary reduction is expected to result in $16,514 in 2020 budget savings, Director of Corporate Services Jesse Sopko noted. Council had initiated the direction to staff to bring back options for a reduction during the COVID-19 period.

“Woodlands County and Strathcona County Councils considered such an adjustment,” Sopko said, with Woodlands dropping their official honorarium by 10% and Strathcona defeating the motion to reduce elected officials’ salary by 15% for the length of the pandemic.

Redwater Farmers Market hopes to be allowed to open by end of June

Organizers do not know if the Redwater Farmers’ Market will open this summer. Market manager Mary Ann Reed said that because it is an indoor market, held in the curling rink at Pembina Place, they do not know if or when the market can open. They are hoping to open by the end of June.

The market is hosted by the Redwater and District Agricultural Society. Last year it operated Tuesday afternoon to early evening from June to September.

Sturgeon council cuts their pay

Coun. Wayne Bokenfohr suggested Sturgeon maintain their salaries as he anticipated Council would be working through the summer holidays and breaks. Coun. Neal Comeau pointed out they have more meetings than before with extra committees and questioned, “what is the objective, what do we hope to achieve?”

Coun. Patrick Tighe who had raised the issue of the salary reduction responded, “if everyone pitches in a little bit it does make a difference,” adding it is more a “token gesture in support of society.”

Coun. Kristen Toms said the 5% reduction is “wholly symbolic,” adding “is it necessary or just optics.”

The annual base salaries for the County’s elected officials are Mayor $102,874, Deputy Mayor $78,872 and Councillors $74,339.

Take action on Clean Air Day

June 3 is Clean Air Day. It’s a good time to reflect on the value of clean air and individual activities that impact air quality.

While local air quality is at a low risk to health most of the time in our Airshed, Clean Air Day gives us a chance to think about the steps we can all take to help maintain and even improve the quality of our local air,” noted Fort Air Partnership Executive Director Nadine Blaney.

There are many ways individuals can contribute to clean air. For example, walking, riding a bicycle or taking the bus instead of driving a car lessens the impact on air quality. Choosing air-friendly products; not idling a vehicle while parked, using less energy by turning down thermostats and air conditioners and shutting off lights when they are not needed are other ways to improve air quality.

Fort Air Partnership is encouraging residents to support Clean Air Day by taking at least one of these actions on June 3 – and making it a habit throughout the year.

Fort Air Partnership continuously monitors and reports on outdoor air quality in and around the Industrial Heartland. This information, along with a daily and forecast AQHI, is available to the public at http://www.aqhi.ca reports on outdoor air quality in and around the Industrial Heartland.

Thorhild valedictorian has career goal of working in hospital

Zoey Feledichuk is the Thorhild Central School class of 2020 valedictorian.

“I worked pretty hard,” she said. “I’ve been working on this for a long time.”

She is looking forward to taking the combined Lab and X-ray Technology program at the Northern Alberta Institute of Technology (NAIT) in the fall.

“I’ve always wanted to work in a hospital,” she said, “like the science part of it, looking at bones and blood. I want to help people but not have to give them the hard information directly.”

To finish grade 12 Feledichuk is taking Chemistry 30, Math 30 and Social Studies 30 through the online learning system set up after schools were closed March 15 because of the COVID-19 pandemic.

“It’s very different,” she said “The classes are a lot harder because you get no hands-on help from the teachers. You can contact them, and they’re always there to help, but it’s not the same.”

She added that while it is not ideal, the process is good.

To do chemistry labs she walks through a virtual lab demonstration, then sends her teacher a photo of her results.

“I wish we could do it in-person,” she said. “We’d get to do a lot cooler labs than online.”

An athlete as well as a dedicated academic student, Feledichuk played “just about every sport the school offered” and took Ukrainian dancing for 14 years. Those activities shut down in mid March, but she is still busy with school, work and helping on the farm.

She schedules school in the mornings and early afternoons and goes to work in mid-afternoon at the Thorhild Co-op hardware store.

Feledichuk is looking forward to a planned farewell at TCS at the end of June. To stay within Alberta Health Services regulations, the event will be restricted to staff and the grade 12 students. Her class hopes to have a convocation ceremony and a graduation speech by teacher Shaun Kiselyk.

“We are also planning a grade 12 farewell for the last day of school, but are still working through the details of what this will look like,” Gross said. It is planned as a small private ceremony to wish students well and send them off while still following Alberta Health Services guidelines regarding gatherings during the COVID-19 pandemic. Class valedictorian Zoey Feledichuk may have the opportunity to address her classmates at that time.

Thorhild County is providing about $700 for the purchase of lawn sign style signs with each graduate’s picture.

The TCS Grad Committee has tentatively planned to host a convocation ceremony and a banquet and dance in September.
Sturgeon County is launching a review of its sand and gravel (aggregate) extraction bylaws and regulations, and we want to hear from you.

The 'Resource Extraction Regulatory Review' project aims to find better ways to balance economic, social, health and environmental outcomes for the municipality, residents, and industry alike. This review includes:

- Review of existing bylaws;
- Public engagement with residents and stakeholders within Sturgeon County;
- Interviews with industry representatives; and
- A report and recommendation to Council through a public hearing process.

Public engagement is taking place between May 19 to June 12.

Due to restrictions caused by COVID-19, in-person events will be replaced with alternative engagement options.

Visit the project website www.sturgeoncounty.ca/ResourceExtraction for the following public engagement opportunities:
